

Head Teachers Note:

Hi all,

It has been so pleasing to see almost all of you attend Parents Evening this week. That discussion between you and your child's class teacher is so important in discussing their progress in school both socially and academically. I trust you are pleased with the progress they show they have made in their books and I hope you had time to look at the class floor books and displays that are so vibrant in school.

Thank you to those of you who filled our parent questionnaire in. I am really pleased to read all of your positive comments and it is so heartening to know that you think we are doing a good job. Such audits are important also in identifying anything you think we could do better as it is essential that we strive to be the very best that we can be! Analysis will follow shortly!

Have a great half term and we look forward to seeing you on Tuesday 26th February

Julie Bratt
